Words from our Senior Minister

Is the Life You are Living the Life that Wants to Live in You?

We are in the midst of the season of Lent. For thousands of years Christians have used this forty-day period leading up to Easter as a time to examine our lives, our relationship with God, and ultimately our faith.

This forty day (not including Sundays) reminds us of the 40 years the children of Israel spent in the wilderness after their exodus from Egypt. It also commemorates the forty days Jesus spent in the desert between Jericho and the Dead Sea, where he was tested by the devil. It is certainly no time for the timid. Lent is the time to ask the most difficult questions we can about our lives: who we are; what it means to be people of faith; who God is calling us to be; what we value and hold most dear.

Lent is not a project of self-improvement. Rather, it's a time of allowing God to transform us. Lent is a time of intentional cooperation with God's graces, where God leads and we follow, like a good dance partner.

A number of years ago I was in the midst of a difficult time in my life. I felt stuck, frustrated, confused. I remember sitting down and trying to explain it to a friend. I told her I was searching for something, I just wasn't sure what. "More than anything I just want to be..." but I couldn't find the word. It wasn't that I wanted to be happy, comfortable, and content. Those words didn't quite capture my longing. "Authentic?" my friend blurted out. In that moment it was as if I'd been humming a tune that I couldn't quite place, but she began to sing it!

That was it. I wanted to be authentic. Genuine. Real. Present. Alive. Fully awake in this world. Fully here. It wasn't that I wasn't alive—I was living, I just had the profound sense that the life that I was living was not the life that wanted to live in me.

In that moment I realized that it was time for me to step back and allow God to take the lead in my life.

I knew that this journey was going to take risk. I also knew that I had no other choice.

As Joseph Campbell, one of the greatest writers on matters of faith and spirituality once said, "the spiritual imperative to be ourselves is so strong that the soul would rather fail at its own life than succeed at someone else's." That's where I was.

Perhaps you feel the same way, and share the same longings. Maybe there is a tugging within you that leads you to feel the life you are living is not the life that wants to live in you. That you are done pretending. That God has bigger dreams for you.

If so, my prayer for you during this season of Lent is that you will do the hard work of the soul to discover your true self; that you'll allow God to transform you. That you'll find the courage and the strength allow God to lead; to follow God into some new place. And that you will begin, perhaps for the first time in your life, to live the life that is wanting to live in you.

Peace to your Lenten path,

Rev. Dr. Russ Peterman, Senior Minister

Rev. Dr. Russ Peterman

How to connect and get involved at UCC

Our Congregational Care Ministry is excited to offer opportunities for connecting in healthy and compassionate ways here at UCC.

Staying healthy is a challenge. So we'll start at the beginning with the ABC's. And some of the important acronyms of healthy living. A new ABC's of Health monthly program begins on Sunday, April 7 at 1:00pm in Room 150, following the First Sunday Connect Lunch. We'll address CPR and AED—as we learn cardiopulmonary resuscitation and discover where in our building you can find the automated external defibrillators. The American Heart Association says that 80% of cardiac arrests occur at home and only 40% of those receive CPR. Our hour-long Family and Friends CPR class provides valuable hands-on training that enables you to provide high quality CPR and the skills to operate an AED until advanced medical help arrives. Make your reservation so we can properly prepare for the class. (This course does not provide CPR certification.)

Another opportunity for sharing the generous care of UCC is through Remembering Together, our grief support group. Our next six-week grief support group begins Sunday, April 7 at the 10:00am. Rev. Christi McDowell will lead the group based on Dr. Patrick O'Malley's book, Getting Grief Right: Finding Your Story of Love in the Sorrow of Loss (copies are available). In his book, O'Malley says grief defies categorization. It is not predictable or linear or resolved. The pathway to living with loss is through our stories. The story of your love and loss is important to us. Let us know if you'd like to be part of our next grief group.

And always, we are connected through prayer. We pray for you daily, and gladly receive your prayer requests through our website and via email at pastoral.care@uccftw.com. When we are informed, our caring folks pray and also make visits in the hospitals and retirement centers. We're a large church with a BIG heart. I am grateful for you and all the ways you care for each other as together we live out Christ's call of kindness and compassion.

Cyndy W. Twedell, Minister of Nurture
