Where do we go from here?

Last month we sent out a congregational survey asking our members and, friends what they thought about our congregation and where they thought we might focus our attention in the months and years ahead. Let me first, offer my gratitude to those who took the time and energy to complete the survey. We had a really solid number of folks that did—361 to be exact. While that might not sound like a huge number for a congregation our size, that is slightly more than half of our average worship attendance, which our strategic consultant tells us, is remarkable. He is typically satisfied with a 25% return rate so, to get more than double of that is outstanding and encouraging. Well done, church!

There were several other encouraging aspects of the results that I'd like to highlight. The first is that there are an overwhelming number of folks who are deeply committed to our church. That question received the highest number of positive responses of any in the entire survey. It is clear that you all are deeply committed and invested in your church! In addition, we are exceedingly excited about our future, are growing spiritually and feel that worship at UCC is a meaningful part of our week. There is a strong belief that God is truly at work in our congregation. These are all good, positive signs!

You all were also willing to offer your ideas of where we need to focus our energies in the near future. Please know that the team is taking all the feedback seriously. It was incredibly insightful and helpful. You offered a lot of great ideas.

We are also very aware that we can't do everything and will need to focus on just a handful of priorities to do them incredibly well. We will need to direct our efforts and resources to those few, rather than trying to accomplish too much simultaneously. I believe we achieve better results when we give our best to a few major initiatives or projects than 15 smaller ones. We will turn our attention toward the most pressing areas that will ultimately have the greatest impact.

Once those strategic priorities are identified, working groups will be formed each of them. These groups will develop and articulate the plans and goals for each, and begin putting them in place and bringing them to fruition. All of this will enable us to create a clear path to live into our new vision.

We are working hard and anticipate this next phase will be complete this fall.

As I've said all along, this process will address three primary questions: Where are we? Where are we going? How are we going to get there? As we begin to move into phase three, I would invite you to continue be in prayer for our beloved church as we prayerfully listen and discern where God is calling us to go and be.

I am excited about this next season and truly believe that God is inviting us into an incredible, vital future.

Grace and peace to you,

Rev. Dr. Russ Peterman, Senior Minister

How to connect and get involved at UCC

Wear gratitude like a cloak and it will feed every corner of your life.—Rumi, 13th century poet

October is my second—favorite month (if you're curious, November is my favorite). I love the colors associated with this season, pumpkin-flavored everything, and fingers-crossed the opportunity to wear a sweater by the end of the month (hey—I can dream, can't I?).

This time of year is often associated with images of harvest—scarecrows, bales of hay, pumpkin patches. Deep down, we have an instinct that urges us to gather in and prepare for winter. After taking stock of what we have, we can then express our gratitude to God and to those who have walked with us through the planting and the tending

When we “wear gratitude like a cloak,” then we can be generous with our resources. In the life of the church, that includes prayerfully considering how our financial giving helps us grow in our faith; strengthening our relationship with God and our connection with other followers of Christ.

Another way to express our gratitude is by being generous with our time. There are many ways to share our gifts for ministry—through volunteering, by learning more about the members of our family of faith, and by welcoming the guests we encounter each week.

Along those lines, I'm happy to say that UCC has recently hired Stacy McCoy to serve as our Member Engagement Coordinator. Stacy is a long-time member who has a passion for hospitality. You'll see her each Sunday greeting people, helping guests feel at home, and welcoming new members. I know you'll join me in welcoming Stacy to our staff, and I hope you'll join her in making everyone feel the radical hospitality of University Christian Church!

—Rev. Shannon Moore, Minister of Faith Formations

OCTOBER'S FEATURED EVENTS & PROGRAMS

The following events and programs are highlights; specific to this month.

Taking the Next STEP

TAKING THE NEXT STEP ANNUAL GENEROSITY CAMPAIGN

October 6-27

Giving is a spiritual issue that is rooted in our call to be disciples of Jesus Christ—reflective of our understanding of the Bible and how we live out our faith in daily life. This year, we are taking a different approach to giving as we dive deeper into the meaning of generosity.

Taking the Next Step is the title for this year's campaign. In the coming weeks, you will not hear about next year's budget or the financial needs of the church. Instead, you will hear what God has to say to us about giving, and how your life and faith will be impacted as you take the next step. Only after we have offered our responses, will our leadership team create a ministry plan for the coming year.

In the past, we have measured success by gathering in enough money to allow University Christian Church to pay its bills. We believe a more faithful way to define success is the spiritual growth that comes from a closer walk with God.

How much do you need to give? That's between you and God and begins with a season of prayer. "God, based on your goodness in my life, where would you want me to be in my giving?" Over the course of the next few weeks, we will offer tools to help you discover your next step in living and giving. This journey promises to be holy ground in the life of University Christian Church. Will you join us by taking the next step?

BOAR'S HEAD CAST AND CREW SIGN UP

Sundays, October 13-27

8:30am-12:15pm | Arches

The Boar's Head and Yule Log Festival is a medieval interpretation of the story of Christmas. This unique spin on a very special story is played out through a stunning procession to masterfully composed music.

Celebrate our 44th Boar's Head and Yule Log Festival by being a part of the performing cast or by being a much needed and valued crew member. There is a place for all! By doing so, you participate in the life and mission of UCC, you get to know your fellow members and experience the camaraderie of being part of something great—sharing a wonderful gift with our community and church.

In order to accommodate the greatest number of participants, we ask that you come to the sign up with more than one part in mind. The cast and crew list will be released before mid-November.
